Lifting children

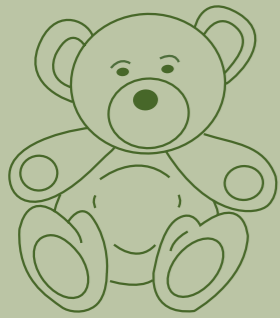

Teddy slings for playful lifting

Lifting children is not the same as lifting small adults. Children have special needs and therefore require the attention of caregivers with special knowledge and skills. At Liko, we have decades of experience in this area, and we were first to introduce lifting accessories designed especially for children. Today, we have specially developed slings for children in most of our sling models. Teddy Pants, Mod. 92, pictured above, are popular for standing and gait training, and provide extra stability for the upper body.
